Course Review Committee Agenda
March 20, 2015
Response Due March 23

BIOL 865  Biologic Basis of Neurologic Disease (2):  200221
Topic; C05; Fall 2015

Prerequisite: Graduate standing.
Advanced considerations of the cellular/molecular mechanisms for neurological disease, emphasizing current literature and research. (Plus/Minus Letter grade only.)

ENGR 437  Water and Energy Recovery from Liquid and Solid Waste (3): Regular; C-02; Fall 2015  200220

Prerequisites: CHEM 115 or CHEM 180, and MATH 240.
Definitions, liquid waste (wastewater, sludge), solid waste, physical processes, chemical processes, biological (aerobic, anaerobic) processes, chemical reaction kinetics, biological reaction kinetics, fundamentals of process design, conservation of mass, conservation of energy, oxidation-reduction reactions, energy content of organic matter natural processes. (Plus/Minus Letter grade only.)

FL 720  Transcultural Encounters: Topics in Literary Theory for East Asian Studies (3): Regular; C-05; Fall 2015  200225

Prerequisite: Graduate standing.
Introduction to variety of critical and theoretical concepts that have shaped production and reception of Chinese and Japanese literary and cultural texts in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Course varies between national and transnational perspective and employs comparative approach.

FL 721  Topics in East Asian Linguistics (3):  200226
Regular; C-02; Fall 2015

Prerequisite: Graduate standing, FL 325, or consent of instructor.
Examination of current issues in Chinese and Japanese linguistics and research methodology, including syllable structure, sound change, tonal evolution, standardization, linguistic purism, and diglossia, among others.

FL 780  Topics in Romance and German Literature (3):  200227
Generic; C-05; Fall 2015

Prerequisite: Graduate standing in the Romance and German Languages and Literatures program or consent of instructor.
Interdisciplinary course in Romance and German literatures. May be repeated when topics vary.

FL 780: Topic  Crime Fiction, Film, and Literature  200228

Prerequisite: Graduate standing in the Romance and German Languages and Literatures program or consent of instructor.
Examination of the origins and development of crime fiction in film and literature, with particular attention to innovation in the boundaries of genre and its social function in relation to readers.
FL 780: Topic  Emergence of Modern Terrorism in European Art, Film, and Literature  200229
Prerequisite: Graduate standing in the Romance and German Languages and Literatures program or consent of instructor.
Modern terrorism in European societies and their various definitions (foreign and domestic, left and right wing, and political, state and non-state); history and beginnings of modern European terrorism in European art, literature and film. Taught in English.

FL 780: Topic  Fairy Tales and Folk Tales  200230
Prerequisite: Graduate standing in the Romance and German Languages and Literatures program or consent of instructor.
Examination of the literary, historical, and cultural significance of the fairy tales/folktales in France, Germany, Italy, and Spain through the definition of the genre, folklore tradition, motifs and topics represented, including a thematic comparative approach.

FL 780: Topic  Picaresque Fictions  200231
Prerequisite: Graduate standing in the Romance and German Languages and Literatures program or consent of instructor.
Exploration of the Picaresque form from its origins in Renaissance Spain to its manifestations in contemporary Romance and German fiction.

FL 780: Topic  Visual and Literary Representation of European Colonialism in Art, Film, and Literature  200232
Prerequisite: Graduate standing in the Romance and German Languages and Literatures program or consent of instructor.
Race, nationalism, and globalization in the visual and literary representations of European Colonialism. Analysis of visual materials, literature, and art, to learn about European Colonialism in France, Spain, Italy, and Germany. Taught in English.

FL 803  Technology in Foreign Language Education (3):  200224
Regular; C-05; Fall 2015
Prerequisite: Graduate standing.
Introduction to principles and practices concerning the use of technology in foreign language education. Focus on the connection between Second Language Acquisition theories and the implementation of current Internet and multimedia technologies.

FL 808  Second Language Acquisition (3):  200223
Regular; C-05; Fall 2015
Prerequisite: Graduate standing.
Survey of L2 acquisition research and methodologies. Examination of major hypotheses about complex variables underlying second L2 and perspectives that form L2 acquisition theories. Selected cases illustrating the relation of L2 acquisition studies to L2 pedagogy.

SXS 884  Advanced Methods in Sexuality Studies (1-3 units):  200222
Supervision; C36; Fall 2015
Prerequisite: Graduate standing.
Practical and critical consideration of research methods and methodology in sexuality studies with a focus on specific strategies of data collection, interpretation, and analysis across disciplines and paradigms. May be repeated for a total of 3 units. (Plus/Minus Letter grade only)