SF State Senior Exit Survey

Introduction

The Senior Exit Survey is conducted by Academic Institutional Research (AIR) in the Academic Planning and Development office of San Francisco State University to provide institutional performance assessment of SF State's undergraduate program. The survey is intended to facilitate evaluation of the level of students' satisfaction with their major program and their SF State experience as a whole. Students encounter the survey online and must proceed through it in order to reach the undergraduate application for graduation. The only survey question that must be completed, however, is the request for their student identification number, the validity of which is not confirmed at that time. Responses to the survey questions were obtained from 3,175 of the undergraduates submitting graduation applications between August 26, 2013 and January 28, 2014.

Executive Summary

Faculty and Instruction

The majority of respondents (two thirds or more) reported satisfaction¹ with SF State faculty and instruction on the following points:

- availability of faculty and their interest in their students' academic success
- overall quality of instruction
- their major program providing an education that developed their critical thinking, written communication, and oral communication skills
- their major program providing an education that helped them define clear ethical standards for decision making
- their major program providing an education that helped them understand human diversity
- the opportunity for interaction with students different from themselves
- their education at SF State helping them prepare for life in general

Roughly 60-70% of the respondents expressed satisfaction in the area of career preparation:

- degree requirements relevant to their professional goals
- their education at SF State helping them prepare for a career in their field

¹ Five-point Likert scales were used in survey questions about student perceptions. "Satisfied," "helpful," "agree," and "to a great extent" refer in this summary to survey responses in the top two levels of each rating scale, i.e., "satisfied or very satisfied," "agree or strongly agree," "helpful or very helpful," and "to a great or very great extent."

- their major program providing an education that helped them present themselves as credible professionals
- their major program providing an education that gave them a sense of competence in their field

Health & Social Science and Liberal & Creative Arts respondents consistently provided significantly more favorable responses in this area than did those in Science & Engineering or Business. Similarly, females consistently gave higher ratings than did males, and Latino students responded more favorably, especially in contrast to White students.

Degree Requirements and Progress toward Graduation

Six in ten respondents reported that the clarity of degree requirements was helpful to them in achieving their degree and half indicated that they are satisfied with academic advising from all sources. Responses were less favorable regarding the availability of required courses:

- 42% agreed that required courses were offered frequently enough, while 40% disagreed
- 43% indicated that the availability of required classes was helpful to them in achieving their degree, while 32% indicated that it was not
- 47% indicated that the flexibility of course choices in their major was helpful, while 29% indicated that it was not

Compared to their counterparts in each demographic category, respondents 25 years of age and over, Latino, African American, and Asian students, and local area students provided significantly more favorable responses in this area. Science & Engineering students provided less favorable responses.

Out-of-Classroom Education and Experience

Only four in ten respondents reported that their major program encouraged work on a research project with a faculty member outside of a course or program. Yet six in ten respondents reported that their major program encouraged their participation in research projects, internships, or service to the community. Half of the respondents reported that their major program incorporated practicum, internship, field experience, co-op experience, or clinical assignment. Of the 64% of respondents who indicated that they participated in community service or volunteer work, 48% reported that it was helpful to them in achieving their degree.

Latino students and those in Health & Social Science consistently provided significantly more favorable responses than did their counterparts in the race/ethnicity and college categories. White students and those in Science & Engineering consistently provided less favorable responses.

Help in Achieving a Degree

Responses in this area were favorable:

- Slightly more than half of the respondents indicated that encouragement from faculty was helpful to them in achieving their degree. Half indicated that encouragement from staff was helpful.
- Seven in ten respondents indicated that social and emotional support from family and friends was helpful to them in achieving their degree.
- Two thirds of the respondents indicated that peer support was helpful to them in achieving their degree, while nearly six in ten reported that they are satisfied with friendships and social support on campus.
- Seven in ten respondents indicated that financial aid was helpful to them in achieving their degree, and half of the respondents who indicated that they participated in campus employment or work study reported that it was helpful.

Female students, Latino students, and those in Health & Social Science most consistently provided significantly more favorable responses than did their counterparts in the race/ethnicity and college categories. White students consistently provided less favorable responses.

Campus Experience

Results were mixed:

- Six in ten respondents indicated that they are satisfied with medical and mental health support and security and personal safety on campus.
- Two thirds of the respondents reported that they are satisfied with computer and technology support.
- Yet half of the students who provided a non-neutral response reported dissatisfaction with parking and transportation.

Participation rates in non-academic and academic extracurricular activities ranged from 30% to 60%. Roughly four in ten participants in non-academic extracurricular activities reported that it was helpful to them in achieving their degree. Such activities included student organizations, student leadership opportunities, student government, campus recreation, athletics, residential life, and fraternities/sororities. Of the 32% of respondents who indicated that they studied abroad and the 44% of respondents who indicated that they participated in independent study, slightly more than half reported that it was helpful to them in achieving their degree. Six in ten respondents indicated that they participated in a culminating senior experience or in a learning community. Of these, half reported that it was helpful to them in achieving their degree.

Students in Health & Social Science generally provided significantly more favorable responses to the questions in this area than did those in other colleges.

Responses for Each Survey Question

Presented below for each question is the distribution of responses by all who answered each survey question. Also reported are any statistically significant differences in responses between groups of students by demographic category. Where table cells are empty, there were no significant differences in that category. Tables presenting frequencies and percentages of responses by demographics, i.e., by age group, gender, race/ethnicity, college of major, and geographic origin, for each question are available in Appendix A.

Faculty and Classes:

To what extent do you agree with the following statements?

Required courses were offered frequently enough:

Strongly agree		8%
Agree		34%
Neither agree nor disagree		18%
Disagree		29%
Strongly disagree		11%

N= 3153

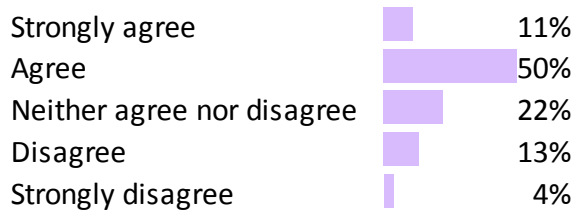

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender	Male	Female
Race/ethnicity ²	Latino	White
College of major ³	LCA	S&E and HSS
Geographic origin

² Native Hawaiian/Other Pacific Islander (<1%) and Native American/Alaskan Native (<1%) are not included in the statistical analyses by race/ethnicity in order to prevent distortion of the results by the extremely small numbers of respondents in those categories.

³ Interdisciplinary Studies & Other (2%) and the colleges of Education (<1%) and Ethnic Studies (<1%) are not included in the statistical analyses by college in order to prevent distortion of the results by the extremely small numbers of respondents in those colleges. Abbreviations for colleges are used: Business=BUS, Health & Social Science=HSS, Liberal & Creative Arts=LCA, and Science & Engineering=S&E.

Class size was appropriate to student learning:

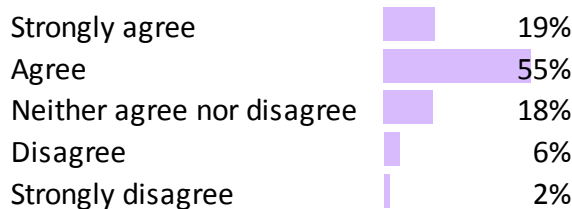

N= 3146

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender
Race/ethnicity
College of major	LCA, HSS, and BUS	S&E
Geographic origin	Local area	Southern California

Faculty members were available when needed:

N= 3148

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender
Race/ethnicity
College of major	LCA	HSS, BUS, and S&E
Geographic origin

Faculty members were genuinely interested in my academic success:

N= 3146

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group
Gender
Race/ethnicity
College of major	LCA and HSS	BUS and S&E
Geographic origin

Course content contains current issues and trends:

N= 3140

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group
Gender	Female	Male
Race/ethnicity
College of major	HSS	LCA, S&E, and BUS
Geographic origin

Degree requirements were relevant to my professional goals:

N= 3144

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group
Gender	Female	Male
Race/ethnicity	Asian	White and multiracial non-Latino
	Latino	White
College of major	HSS	LCA, S&E, and BUS
Geographic origin	Local area	Southern California

My education at SF State has helped prepare me for a career in my field:

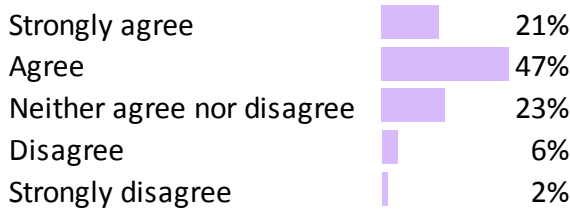

N= 3144

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group
Gender	Female	Male
Race/ethnicity	Latino	White and multiracial non-Latino
College of major	HSS	LCA, S&E, and BUS
Geographic origin

My education at SF State has helped prepare me for life in general:

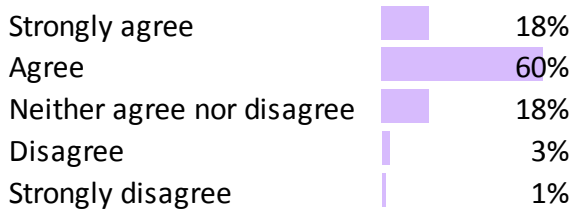

N= 3139

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group
Gender	Female	Male
Race/ethnicity	Latino	White and multiracial non-Latino
	Asian	White
College of major	HSS	BUS and S&E
	LCA	S&E
Geographic origin

SF State offers high quality instruction:

N= 3136

Significantly stronger agreement was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

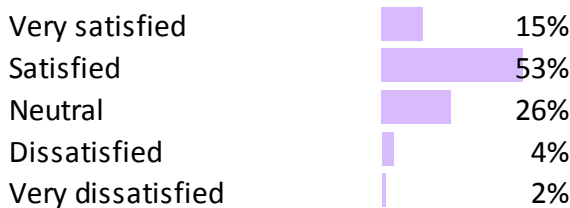

Demographic Category:	Stronger agreement:	Stronger disagreement:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender	Female	Male
Race/ethnicity
College of major	HSS and LCA	BUS and S&E
Geographic origin

In seven of the nine questions in this section of the survey, high percentages of respondents (68% to 80%) expressed satisfaction with faculty and classes. Only six in ten (61%), however, were satisfied with class size, and far fewer (42%) were satisfied with course availability. There were significant differences in responses by gender in five out of the nine questions, with female respondents reporting stronger agreement. There were significant differences in responses by college in all nine questions, with stronger agreement reported by Health & Social Science and Liberal & Creative Arts students in seven of nine questions. Significantly stronger disagreement was reported by Science & Engineering respondents in every question.

Campus Experience:

How satisfied do you feel about your campus experience?

Access to faculty:

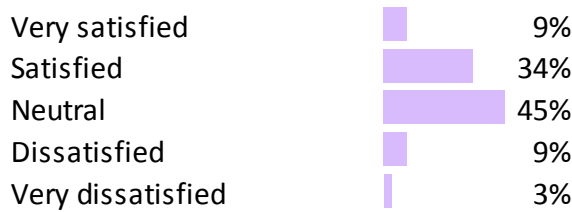

N= 3138

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender
Race/ethnicity
College of major	LCA	BUS, S&E, and HSS
Geographic origin

Student life events and activities:

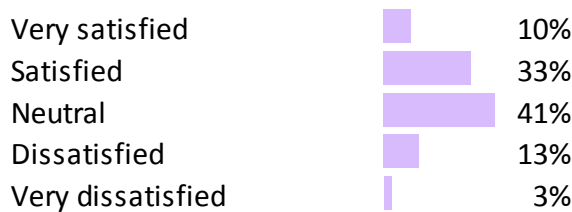

N= 3115

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender
Race/ethnicity	African American, Asian, and Latino	White
	Asian	Multiracial non-Latino
College of major	BUS and HSS	LCA
Geographic origin	Local area and All other areas (non-SoCal)	Southern California

Opportunities for out of class learning experience:

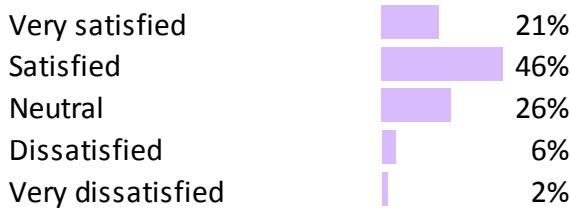

N= 3132

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender
Race/ethnicity	Asian and Latino	White
College of major	HSS	S&E and BUS
Geographic origin	Local area	Southern California

Opportunity for interaction with students different from me:

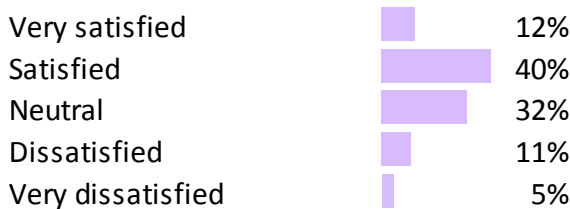

N= 3133

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group
Gender
Race/ethnicity
College of major	HSS	S&E
Geographic origin

Academic advising from all sources:

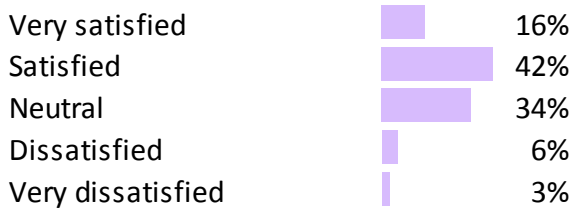

N= 3135

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender
Race/ethnicity	African American, Asian, and Latino	White
College of major
Geographic origin	Local area	Southern California and All other areas

Friendships and social support on campus:

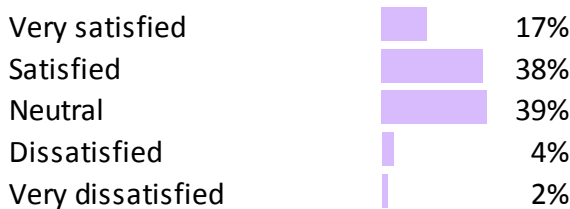

N= 3138

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group
Gender
Race/ethnicity	Latino and Asian	White
College of major	HSS	LCA
Geographic origin	Local area	All other areas (non-SoCal)

Medical and mental health support on campus:

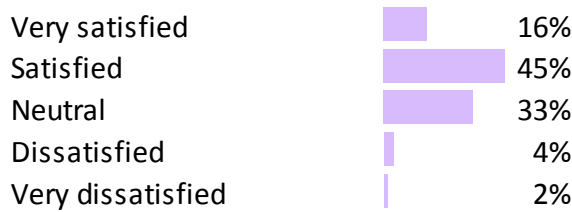

N= 3137

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group	24 years of age and under	25 years of age and over
Gender	Female	Male
Race/ethnicity	Latino	White and Asian
College of major	HSS	LCA and BUS
Geographic origin	Southern California	Local area

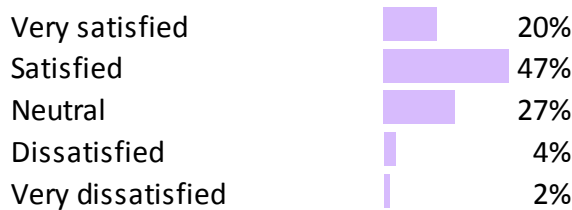

Security and personal safety on campus:

N= 3132

Responses between groups of students did not differ on the basis of age, gender, race/ethnicity, college, or geographic origin.

Computer and technology support:

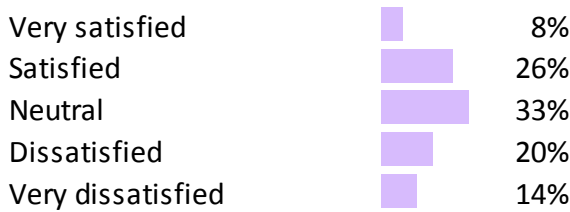

N= 3131

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group
Gender
Race/ethnicity	Latino and Asian	White
College of major	HSS, LCA, and BUS	S&E
Geographic origin	Local area and All other areas (non-SoCal)	Southern California

Parking and transportation:

N= 3130

Significantly greater satisfaction was reported by the groups of respondents in the middle column than was by those in the right-hand column below:

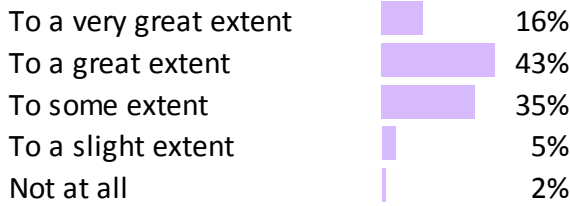

Demographic Category:	Greater satisfaction:	Greater dissatisfaction:
Age group	25 years of age and over	24 years of age and under
Gender
Race/ethnicity
College of major
Geographic origin	Local area and All other areas (non-SoCal)	Southern California

In this section of the survey on their campus experience, two thirds of respondents (67% to 68%) were satisfied with access to faculty, opportunities for interaction with students different from themselves, and computer and technology support. Smaller percentages of respondents, however, expressed satisfaction with the other aspects or features of campus experience included in this section, and the relatively large percentages of neutral responses (32% to 45%) suggest that many students did not use the services or participate in the activities or events. While six in ten respondents were satisfied with security and personal safety on campus, only one third were satisfied with parking and transportation. In both cases, one third of the respondents provided neutral responses. There were significant differences in responses by race/ethnicity in six out of ten questions, with Latino respondents reporting greater satisfaction and White respondents reporting greater dissatisfaction. There were also significant differences in responses by college in seven out of ten questions, with Health & Social Science respondents reporting greater satisfaction in six questions. Local area respondents expressed greater satisfaction in six of the ten questions than did other students, with those from Southern California reporting greater dissatisfaction in five of those questions.

Skills and Competencies:

To what extent did your major program provide an education that...

Age group
Gender
Race/ethnicity	African American, Latino, and Asian	White
College of major	HSS	LCA, BUS, and S&E
Geographic origin	Local area	Southern California

Responses in this section of the survey were mixed. Roughly two thirds of respondents (59% to 73%) indicated that to a great extent their major program provided an education that developed major-specific and broader skills and competencies. Fewer (42% to 52%), however, reported that to a great extent their major program incorporated various types of field experience or work on research with faculty outside of a course or program. Two or three out of ten respondents indicated that their major program did so to a slight extent or not at all.

There were significant differences in responses by gender in 11 out of the 12 questions in this section, with female respondents reporting that, to a greater extent than was reported by males, the goals examined in this section were accomplished. There were also significant differences in responses by race/ethnicity in all 12 questions, with African American students responding more favorably in nine questions and Latino students doing so in 10 questions. White students responded less favorably in all 12 questions. Health & Social Science respondents provided more favorable responses to every question than did students in other colleges, while Liberal & Creative Arts respondents did so in 11 questions. Science & Engineering students consistently responded less favorably.

Help in Achieving a Degree:

In this survey section on the helpfulness of various institutional and personal factors in achieving a degree, the clarity of degree requirements and financial aid were rated by, respectively, six and seven in ten respondents as helpful. In contrast, course registration, availability, and flexibility of choices were rated helpful by four in ten students, with availability of courses rated only slightly or not at all helpful by 32% (although that is an improvement of 10 percentage points over last semester). Ratings were high (65% to 74%) for personal sources of social support and encouragement such as family, friends, and peers, but lower for faculty (56%) or staff (50%) encouragement. There were significant differences between groups of students in their responses to many of the 11 questions in this section. Female students provided more favorable responses than did males in eight of the questions. Latino students responded more favorably than did those of other races/ethnicities in every question, as did Health & Social Science respondents. Conversely, White students and those in Science & Engineering consistently responded less favorably. Local area students rated the four five questions regarding degree requirements and course registration more helpful than did students from Southern California. Female students rated the last six questions pertaining to social support more helpful than did males.

Participation rates in non-academic and academic extracurricular activities ranged from 30% to 60%. Ratings of the helpfulness of participation in these activities, such as student government and organizations, campus recreation and athletics, residential life, and fraternities/sororities, were lower (38-45%) than were those of participation in study abroad or independent study programs, culminating senior experiences, or learning communities (49-54%). Among the 14 questions in this section, Health & Social Science respondents rated participation in nine of the extracurricular activities significantly more helpful than did students in other colleges. In contrast, White students and those in Science & Engineering consistently responded less favorably.

Survey Respondent Characteristics

In a typical semester, how many units did you complete?

N= 3140

Students 25 years of age and over were significantly more likely to complete fewer units than were those 24 years of age and under. Students from Southern California were significantly more likely to complete more units than were local students.

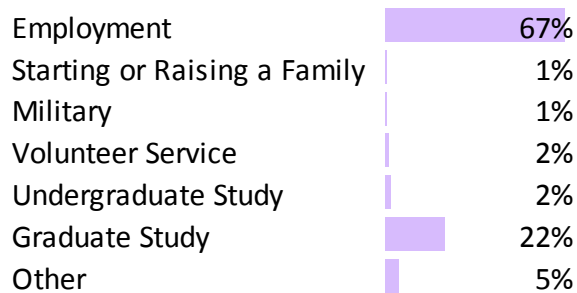

During a typical semester, how many hours per week did you work for pay?

N= 3120

Asian students were significantly more likely, and White and Latino students significantly less likely, to report not working for pay. Students 25 years of age and over were significantly more likely to indicate that they work 40 hours per week or more than were those 24 years of age and under.

What is most likely to be your principle activity upon graduation?

N= 3151

Female respondents were significantly more likely than were male respondents to indicate that they plan to go to graduate school. Students 25 years of age and over were significantly more likely than were those 24 years of age and under to indicate that they were most likely to start or raise a family. Conversely, those 24 years of age and under were significantly more likely than were those 25 years of age and over to indicate that graduate study would most likely be their principle activity. Respondents in Business were significantly more likely than were respondents in other colleges to indicate that employment would be their principle activity upon graduation. Respondents in Science & Engineering were significantly more likely than were respondents in other colleges to indicate that graduate study would be their principle activity.
